Exchange Student Looks Forward To Year In U.S.

There is a lot of America, she discovered on her trip from New York and before returning to Belgium, Maria Anna Henrica van den Nouwland, an exchange student at Lincoln-Way high school hopes to see a lot more of it.

Starting from Rotterdam and with stops at Southampton in England and LaHavre in France, where other exchange students boarded the ship, Maria was at sea 10 days before landing at New York.

The ship arrived on Monday of last week and the students destined for the mid-west and west left at 1:30 that afternoon by bus and some 14 hours later arrived at Chicago.

Maria was met there by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bailey, of Manhattan, their daughter Judith, 17, a senior this year at Lincoln-Way, and Donald D'Amico, assistant superintendent of the school, Maria is to make her home with the Baileys during her year here.

Maria did not expect to see Indian war parties, nor any cow pokes and rustlers in a show-down gunfight, nor even any gangsters trading shots with police but she wasn't quite prepared for the endless swarm of automobiles that is always on the move, a sight that fascinates and repels, she says.

A native of Holland she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre van don Nouwland, three sisters and a brother, have resided for the past several years at Kortrijk (Coo-out-ri-ke), Belgium, a city of about 60,000. There Maria attended Moderne Humaniora, a girls' high school. Three hundred boarders and approximately 700 day students made up the enrollment last year.

Maria was graduated this year and could enter a university in Belgium but she believed that a year in a high school here would add more to her education. She has not decided definitely on her course here but it will include English, U. S. history, Spanish and music. Maria hopes to become a teacher.

Maria speaks four languages now, Dutch, French, German and English, and her English is very good. The Belgians do not have a language of their own but use French and Flemish, which for all practical purposes is Dutch. Kortrijk is in Flanders.

Maria is above average height for a girl, a blond and has blue eyes--sometimes gray, sometimes hint of hazel--and there is a faint sprinkle of freckles across her nose. She is quite attractive.

Skiing, skating (roller as well as ice), basketball, volleyball and swimming are her favorite forms of recreation. Maria has competed in swimming meets, entering in events ranging from 100 meters to several miles.

She also enjoys music and plays a guitar.

Maria is familiar with beefsteak and french fries but hamburger is a new experience and an enjoyable one too. Inquiries about hot dogs met with an interrogative look and use of the word wieners drew more of the same sausage, ah yes, sausages are good but fish? . . . Please, no fish for Maria, nor tomatoes, she added as an afterthought. But outside of fish and tomatoes Maria, like any other 17-year-old, has a healthy appetite and likes practically any kind of food.

She is looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to her year at Lincoln-Way, she told Supt. A. Hunter Chapman and Mr. D'Amico when she came to the school on Wednesday with Mrs. Bailey and Judith.

The troubles built up around West Berlin and the threat of possible war is causing more concern here than abroad, it would seem. Maria said she had heard little talk of it in Belgium, and no one seemed unduly alarmed. Nor did she hear much talk about it among the exchange students on her way to America. These students were from all parts of Europe. She did hear some of them speculate as to what might happen to them in the event war came and they were on this side of the Atlantic. Then someone said that in a case like that some provision would be made for the students to remain here and that was that.

Main Speaker At Workshop

Frank Goetschel, of New Lenox, superintendent of maintenance of Lincoln-Way high school was the principal speaker at a school maintenance workshop held yesterday (Aug. 30) in Wheaton high school, DuPage County.

The workshop was sponsored by the DuPage county school superintendent and the DuPage county health department. Mr. Goetschel's subject was "Contributions to the Total School Program." He also served as chairman of the discussion groups made up of high school and junior high school custodians which were conducted yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Goetschel has been in charge of maintenance at Lincoln-Way since the school was built.

Plan Recreation Center On New Lenox VFW Land

A community center project which would include bowling lanes, restaurant, cocktail lounge, swimming pool and other recreational features is in the making for New Lenox, it was announced by John Vinson, commander of the Harry E. Anderson post, N. 9545, V.F.W.

The project, which will cost approximately $550,000 according to the planners, would be built on the 11-acre plot owned by a non-profit making corporation formed by the VFW post, north of the Rock Island tracks and at the west edge of New Lenox. The corporation is known as the Harry E. Anderson Post 9545 Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Pledges made to this corporation will be invested as voting shares, under a voting trust established by it in the New Lenox Recreation Center corporation, a company operating for profit.

The Recreation Center Corp. has been formed for the purpose of providing the following recreational facilities for the people of New Lenox and any from the surrounding areas that may be interested:

A two-story building, approximately 100 x 46 feet.

On the first floor a 16-lane bowling alleys, snack bar, cocktail lounge, nursery-checkroom, locker facilities for men and women bowlers; separate locker and shower facilities for use with swimming pool and the necessary business office.

On the second floor would be restaurant facilities and service bar. It would include sliding dividers so that rooms could be devised for smaller meetings.

The bowling lanes would be installed by Brunswick.

It is proposed that the Lions club continue to operate the ball diamond (it has a lease of that field for 20 years for $1) and that the Harry E. Anderson Post non-profit corporation lease and manage the swimming pool (capable of handling 250 persons); playground area; ice skating rink for winter; a picnic area; outdoor tennis, badminton and volleyball courts and parking for 200 cars.

Richard M. McCarthy is president of the Recreation Center corporation. He also represents the Harry E. Anderson Post non-profit corporation.

"The success of this venture will be of great importance to this community," Commander Vinson said, "and it is toward this end we are inviting the community into this project."

McCarthy said that plans for the project are now at the stage where the next few weeks should see its beginning.

Frankfort Firm Will Build Addition To Grade School

Work on the addition to Frankfort grade school is expected to get underway next week. The contract for the job has been awarded to Baumgartner & Co., of Frankfort for $120,197 by the school board at a meeting last week.

Baumgartner's bid was the lowest of nine submitted and was approximately $12,000 under the estimate of the architect, William J. Scheidemann.

The work is to be paid for out of the $45,000 bond issue authorized by the voters this summer. Architect's fees, legal fees and landscaping will also come out of this fund, but there should be ample for this as well as possible contingencies, it was stated, and have money left over.

The board estimates that the $45,000 should see the project completed and plans to issue bonds for that amount. Should some contingencies arise--now unforeseen which would necessitate further funds--the board would still have access to $5,000. If not needed, it was pointed out, the additional bonds would not be issued with resultant savings to the taxpayers. The resolution and other legal work concerning the bond issue has been prepared by the board's attorney, Scherrill W. Weichbrodt.

The addition to the school will contain four classrooms, a multi-purpose room which could be converted into two rooms if the need should arise and an office. The toilet facilities in the present building are to be rejuvenated. Broken down the Baumgartner & Co. bid has a base figure of $115,446. Added to this is $3,682 for modernizing the sanitary facilities and $1,440 for electrical fixtures. There is a deduction of $371 for using aluminum windows--an alternate offered--instead of steel to reach the final figure of $120,197.

Next lowest bid was that of Sam Molaschi, a Joliet contractor, which was $121,039. The other bids were: Auburn Const., Chicago, $123,165; Robert Regan Co., Joliet, $123,574; Modern Builders, Joliet, $132,020; P. T. Const., Chicago Heights, $132,953; J. H. Kemmiller & Co., Chicago, $133,531; Sidney Talsma & Son, Evergreen Park, $134,392, and Contemporary Builders, Glen Ellyn, $145,382.

Mokena C D Offers Fall Out Program

The Mokena Civil Defense unit is seeking volunteers. Training programs in first aid, radiology, rescue, communications etc are to begin next month and those in charge are hopeful of large enrollments.

Listed as most urgently needed among the volunteers are women who are registered nurses or licensed practical nurses.

"If an atomic bomb fell on or near Chicago at this moment, would you know the precautions and safety measures that should be taken to protect yourself and your family?"

That is a question civil defense authorities are asking with the hope that it will stimulate interest in the program.

The prime purpose of the Mokena CD is to help the people of the area in an emergency. As of now, it was stated, lack of trained personnel would make such aid ineffective and those in charge want to remedy the situation.

Persons with questions in connection with the training program offered by the civil defense organization are invited to communicate with A. A. Dina, CD director for Mokena, at 138 Front st.

Baumgartner & Co. estimate they can complete the job in 150 working days.

One of the first tasks will be the removal of some of the trees at the front of the building to make room for the addition. There are many trees on the school ground and the board is giving some consideration to a suggestion that some of the clumps be thinned out by removal of trees that appear unhealthy. Removal of some of these trees, it was said, would give more play space.

Expect LW To Grow Out Of Class Space By Sept. 1963

Future building plans for Lincoln-Way high school were discussed by the board of the education at its regular meeting last week. The board is inviting architects to submit their fee schedules and will check with various firms toward this end.

There will be need for more classrooms by the fall of 1963, it was pointed out and to have them ready by that time work will have to be started in 1962.

Supt. A. Hunter Chapman estimates the enrollment this September will be approximately 860. Of that number only approximately 150 will be graduated. The freshmen classes are growing, he stated, and the large classes that have been plaguing the grade school districts will be making themselves felt in the high schools by 1963.

Supt. Chapman told the board that the Lincoln-Way enrollment is expected to pass the thousand mark in September, 1962 and by September, 1963 it probably will be around 1,160.

When school opens in September, 1962, the superintendent said, he expects it will be necessary to stagger the student load and extend the school day an hour. By the fall of 1963, however, the enrollment would be too much for such a system.

The school now has a court yard, surrounded by buildings and the next addition will be the conversion of the court yard into

Open Office Of Police Magistrate

In addition $358 in court costs were collected and dispersed to the village of New Lenox.

Sauerkraut Day Success At Frankfort

Sauerkraut Day at Frankfort last Saturday was hailed as a success by officers of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event.

It was estimated that the event drew more than 2,000 persons to the business section of Frankfort. Eleven hundred persons were served with sauerkraut and wieners, which meant that three barrels of kraut and over 2,200 wieners were consumed.

Ralph Shaw, president of the Chamber, Jim Geuther, vice president, and Herbert Lambrecht, who served as co-chairmen of arrangements, expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the results.

Merchants distributed more than 150 prizes valued at approximately $1,500. The Kiddy and Pet parade was a favorite with the spectators and the roving German band was in heavy demand.

A sightless Chicagoan, Arno Kupsch, attended the affair as a special guest of the Lions club. Lions International has sight saving as its primary objective and all of the clubs do considerable work in aiding the blind and those with defective vision.

One of the projects is the Leader Dog School at Rochester, Mich. Mr. Kupsch was accompanied by one of the dogs trained there, "Lucky," a Golden Retriever. Mr. Kupsch answered many questions concerning the use of dogs as companions for the sightless and put "Lucky" thru his paces to show what an educated animal can do.

BEG PARDON!

Francis Weiss, of 515 S. Cedar rd., New Lenox, is not the Frank Weiss, 17, ticketed by Joliet police for failure to have his car under control and crashing into a tree in Pilcher Park. The report of the accident gave the address as 515 S. Cedar. Mr. Weiss, who resides there, says no Frank Weiss has ever made his home there.

"LOOKING OVER THE CONCESSIONS" at the Frankfort Sauerkraut Jamboree was this special guest of the Lions club, Arno W. Kupsch, of Chicago, and his leader dog, "Lucky," a Golden Retriever which was trained at the Leader Dog School at Rochester, Mich. This school has the support of the Lions. Mr. Kupsch is sightless. Escorting him and explaining the various concessions is Herbert Lambrecht, Frankfort insurance and real estate dealer.

Roman Catholic Show Big Population Gain In Area

The percentage of Catholics in Illinois has grown in the last ten years, a recent survey reports.

Catholics in Illinois, who have increased by 700,000 in the last decade, number 2,960,452, according to the 1961 edition of the Catholic Directory, which records figures as of Jan. 1, 1961. With state population set at 10,081,158 by the 1960 census, Catholics make up approximately 30 per cent of the population.

The 1951, Catholics thruout the state numbered 2,262,840, as compared with the overall population of 8,128,248, and comprised 28 per cent of the population.

Catholic population of the Joliet diocese has more than doubled in the same period: from 96,494 in 1951 to 210,033 in 1961. That figure, when compared with the 687,197 overall population figure for the seven counties sets the Catholic percentage of the population at 31 per cent. This percentage is second only to that of the Archdiocese of Chicago (40 per cent), the survey shows.

The Joliet diocese is made up of DuPage, Ford, Grundy, Iroquois, Kankakee, Kendall and Will counties.

Diocesan Catholics, in comparison with general population figures of 441,173 ten years ago, comprised 22 per cent of the population.

The Archdiocese of Chicago, made up of Cook and Lake counties, records 2,188,831 Catholics in the archdiocese; general population estimate is 5,423,381.

Catholics in the Peoria diocese now number 204,657, or 15 per cent of the overall total of 1,334,517. In the Belleville diocese, located in southern Illinois, Catholics are also 15 per cent of the population. The Springfield diocese lists 156,606 Catholics as compared with 1,043,224, for 15 per cent of the population. General population of the 11 counties in northwest Illinois which make up the Rockford diocese is 798,538; Catholics, 19 per cent of the total, number 155,328.

Oak Forest Leads South Suburbs In Construction

(CNS) Oak Forest with 92 building permits issued in June led south and southwest suburban communities in a construction report released this week by the Bureau of Census. In May it ranked fourth with 38 permits.

Blue Island passed up 19 communities to move into second place with 72 permits from 21st place and three permits in May.

Harvey went from 6th place and 24 permits in May to third place and 66 permits.

Chicago Heights also moved ahead from ninth place with 20 permits to fourth place with 57 permits in June.

Cicero moved into fifth place with 47 permits from 13th place and 12 permits last month.

Downers Grove went from 11th place with 17 permits to sixth place with 40 permits in June.

Midlothian dropped from second place and 51 permits to seventh place and 33 permits.

Oak Lawn took a tumble from first place with 63 permits in May to eighth place and 31 permits.

Aurora ranked ninth with 30 permits, followed by La Grange Park with 29.

Four top ten leaders in May dropped out of this category in June: Country Club Hills dropped from seventh place and 22 permits to 14th place and 22 permits in June; South Holland from sixth place and 24 permits to 12th place and 25 permits; Dolton from eighth place with 21 permits to 13th with 24; and Joliet from ninth with 20 permits to 11th with 25.

Other south and southwest communities in the report with the number of permits issued were: Worth, 25; Forest Park, Tinley Park, 20 each; Summit, Westchester, 13 each; Alsip, Berwyn, Sauk, 11 each; Lemont, Markham, 10 each.

Also listed were: Lansing, nine; Bridgeview, Calumet Park, Riverside, eight each; Broadview, Hinsdale, Posen, Steger, Western Springs, six each; Calumet City, Homewood, five each; Chicago Ridge, Evergreen Park, Olympia Fields, Orland Park, Robbins, three each; Brookfield, Flossmoor, North Riverside, Thornton, two each; Park Forest, one.

Building permits were not issued in Crestwood, East Chicago Heights, East Hazel Crest, Lisle, Riverdale, and Romeoville.

No data was available for South Chicago Heights, and Stickney.

Permits issued in May but reported too late to appear in the May report included Evergreen Park with 27.

Chicago Heights had 120 units in public housing projects for which construction contracts were awarded in June.

These communities, lying south of Madison street in Chicago, are among the one-third of the 10,000 areas in the United States which have a local building permit system. These 3,000 to 3,500 "selected places" account for more than 90 per cent of the nationwide total in 1960.

Will Request Report On Unfit Drivers

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter announced that if a special session of the General Assembly is called he will request that the call include legislation for compulsory reporting by the medical profession of physical and mental disabilities which might disqualify drivers of motor vehicles.

Secretary Carpenter said that his decision was based upon recommendations of his newly formed division of research and development after review of thousands of cases in which medical or physical disability was the sole or contributing factor in fatal and injurious accidents. These recommendations are also strengthened by study of statistics covering the same field produced by national agencies. Secretary Carpenter referred specifically to information obtained from the conclusions and recommendations of the traffic safety branch of the U. S. department of health, education and welfare.

Mrs. John Churchill of New Lenox headed the group as day camp director. The Tri-Kena group is divided into eight units ranging from second to seventh grade girls representing villages of Frankfort, New Lenox and Mokena.

Activities included various hikes, cook-outs, watermelon hunt as well as making handicraft items.

On the last day of camp, Friday, Aug. 25 a camp roundup was held at which time each unit participated in presenting a show, skit or stunt.

An overnight camping adventure was taken Friday evening by some 30 Intermediate Scouts, comprising those of fifth, sixth and seventh graders, and three leaders at Hawthorne Ridge, located South of Chicago Heights on Highway 1 which is owned by the Trailway Girl Scout council.

825 Pupils To Enroll At Haven-Oakview, Sept. 5

MRS. LEONARD ANDERSON
Tel. HU 5-3651
Haven and Oakview schools will re-open for the coming school term on Tuesday Sept. 5 according to Superintendent John Oster of the New Lenox public schools.

Some 825 to 850 pupils are expected to attend the opening day of school, for registration only, which will keep them at school for about one and a half hours. School closed last year in June with 760 pupils; making an increase of 60 or 70 more students for this year.

Following registration for the pupils, there will be a teachers meeting.

School buses will operate on the same routes and schedules that were used last year, and will operate in the rural areas by the school district. They will not pick up children living within one and a half miles of the school. The PTA will again sponsor operation of a bus for children living within that distance. As in the past, children using these buses will pay a monthly fee.

A third section of the sixth grade, and a fourth section in the second grade has been added.

Kindergarten will operate morning and afternoon sessions in both Haven and Oakview schools.

All children in either beginners or concert band will attend school at Oakview.

There are two new teachers added to the staff this year making a total of 28 teachers on the staff in Haven and Oakview schools this year, they are:

State Income Tax Coming By Again

A call for a special session of the general assembly has been issued by Gov. Kerner. Only those matters listed in the call may be considered at a special session and from news dispatches concerning the coming meeting of the assembly the legislators will not lack for subjects.

The two principal items of business are:

Re-apportionment of Illinois, and
A proposed amendment to the revenue article of the state constitution.

No agreement could be reached on either subject at the regular session of the legislature.

There are some who believe the prospects for redistricting the state look brighter. The question has resolved itself to this: The state will be split into new congressional districts with each district having its own election or candidates will run for the 24 seats in congress on a statewide basis.

The reason that no action has been taken is that the Democrats and Republicans cannot agree on who is to lose what seats. There were 25 congressional districts in Illinois. A loss in population as shown in the 1960 census deprives the state of one of its seats in congress. In the next congress Illinois will have 24 representatives.

Since the governor, Mayor Daley of Chicago and other leaders of the Democrats indicated they wanted an amendment to the revenue article that would give the legislature a free hand in writing tax laws. And it was no secret that one of the laws contemplated would have empowered the state to collect an income tax.

The Republicans had control of the senate and they with the aid of some downstate Democrats blocked enactment of the proposed amendment. The Republican leaders say they are still opposed to any form of income tax, direct or indirect, which means they oppose any revenue amendment which might harbor such an intention.

A resolution containing a proposed amendment for submission to the voters would have to have a two-thirds vote at the special session and few believe that the votes are there.

With several items of business on the call, however, and especially that concerning redistricting, it is possible that some trading could take place which would end with the people of Illinois being sold to the tax gatherers. The session is not to be held until Oct. 9 and that leaves a lot of time for button-holing.

We don't like to think of such things and we hope it won't happen. We don't believe the people of Illinois want an income tax on top of the other taxes they must pay.

No legislature should ever be given a free hand in writing tax laws. They wouldn't know where to stop.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Are you a wallflower?
When you go to a party do you just sit there and keep your mouth shut? Or if you do say something no one pays any attention?

Despite the fact that you use the proper dressing on your hair, brush your teeth after every meal and carry THE mouthwash in a hip flask so you can combat halitosis any waking hour, are you a dud with the ladies?

Do raises and promotions elude you?

Do people classify you as a jerk?

If you answer these questions affirmatively then don't delay! Write Professor Ezekiel Flubdub. Tell him your troubles. Professor Flubdub has helped many and he can help you.

The old professor—who operates on a fee basis, cash in advance—is a busy man but never too busy to welcome a new sucker—oops, a new customer. He prefers to call them clients but the old prof is inclined at times to strain at a camel and swallow a gnat.

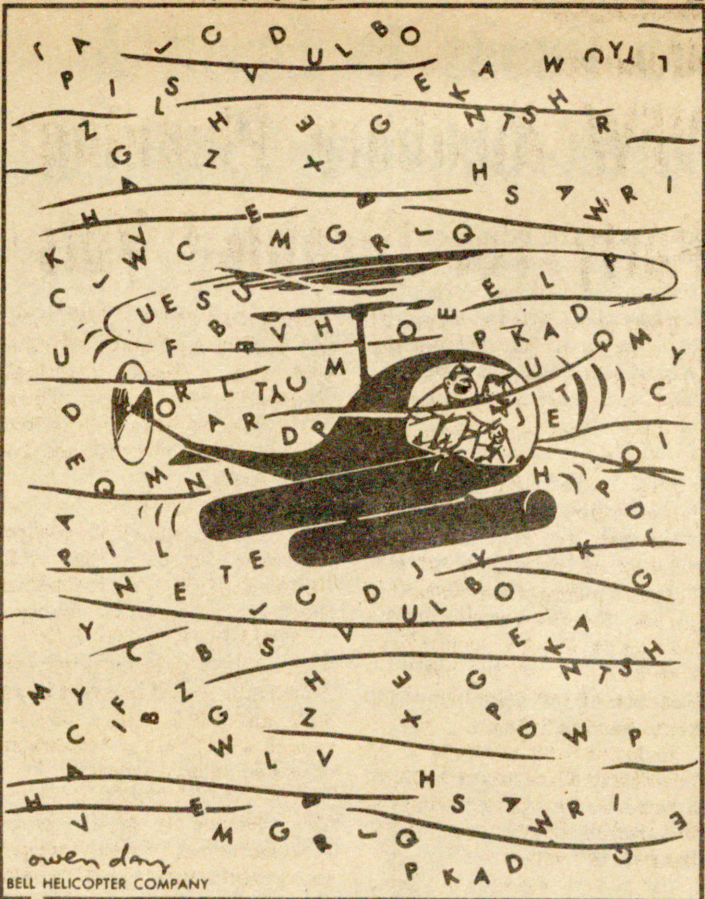

The old prof. has some great ideas in aiding one to become popular. There is no need for anyone to be a wallflower. If one feels he or she is unwanted or unnoticed the solution is simple, the old prof says -- just show a little action. Kick a hole in the bass drum, pour water down the tuba (be sure, however, that it is only water and not the more expensive liquid) dump the punch bowl off the table, throw a bottle (empty) thru a window or belt the host or hostess in the nose.

This may not make you the most popular figure at the party but you will be noticed and by repeating the performance a couple of times, the old prof points out, you will no longer be a wallflower but a real conversation piece. But don't overdo, the prof cautions, because you may run out of hosts or hostesses and become the little man who wasn't there.

As for a brush-off by the ladies the old prof bids his clientele to buck up. Most women, he spines, pat back yawns and look bored because they are bored by getting the same old line. They have been told how gorgeous they are so many times by so many men that they have come to accept this as their rightful due. They remember the words, of course, but not who says them.

"Surprise, that is the element on which success rests, be it war, football or the ladies."

COPTER CARTOON by owen day

"What kind of soupy weather is this - ALPHABET?"

the old prof declares. "If you have tried to carry on a conversation with a woman but your best efforts have been thoroughly chilled try a new approach. 'None of that 'Hello, Beautiful, where have you been etc' stuff. That is old hat. Instead walk up, turn on the old smile and say, 'Hiyah, Fats, you sure keep piling it on... Shows up your age more too... better watch it!'

"It doesn't matter if the woman in question is in her 20's, slender and well within the prescribed weight - limits. Ninety-nine per cent of women—American women at least, resent any reference to overweight -- if applied to themselves. If directed against some other woman -- fine, but when it is one's self and to be called fat... Broth--er! Truth is no justification for such an insult. If they are becoming even just a little plump the word fat sinks in like some deeply barbed harpoon.

"Even if the word is obviously a slander it still has the power to shock and threaten because the great majority of women have a secret fear of becoming fat and do not wish to be reminded of it."

The prof went on to explain that to address a woman as "Fats" will not put any stars in his crown but at least she will not be bored and she will remember that man... Maybe with loathing, but she will remember him if she lives to be a hundred.

In the business world, the old prof said, the one who is passed over when it comes to raises or getting that promotion which means prestige and money in the bank, the remedy is simple.

When the boss comes out with a plan on how to expand production, sales and profits and at the same time pare overhead to the marrow, tell him he's nuts. Tell him his ideas smell and suggest that a little psychiatric care now may save him from years in a strait-jacket.

You will be fired, of course, but if you no longer have a job you no longer have raises and promotions as a problem. You may have another one tho--how to keep from starving.

This brings us to the last question in the old prof's prospectus:

"Do people classify you as a jerk?"

Well, if you do all the things the old prof recommends you may rest assured that you will indeed be classified as a jerk--a star spangled, champion, prize winning jerk.

That's progress. It shows you aren't standing still.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Students of market actions and economics, have been closely watching this fast moving world. Ther Berlin situation became much more important than its population could possibly have done. That city has become a world symbol of whether or not this country and its allies are willing and able to face up to obligations which we have assumed or if we are as the Chinese say, a "paper tiger".

In an effort to ease world tensions and make everybody happy, we have probably contributed considerably to these tensions thru acts of some of our amateur foreign experts who have compromised with cold facts of military and international political history. They have assumed the world to be more Christian and ethical (from our point of view) than it is.

A large portion of the world does not have our standard of morals as to validity of contracts and their binding properties nor the idea of turning the other cheek from time to time. Those countries living close to the line of starvation, simply do not have these ethical standards and they believe us to be fools when we assume this to be the case. Kipling once said that a few misguided people could cause more troubles than several battleships could settle, regardless of the pious intentions. In India there is a famous example. Kind intentioned organizations wanted to raise the standard of living of that country and noted the fact that millions of people eked out a bare existence thru hand loom of cloth. They, therefore, brought in mechanical looms and immediately brought unemployment and starvation to millions who lived on handloom.

Better trained people knew you could not force such change at too fast a pace without causing these economic stomach aches. This administration seems to have learned this lesson in aiding world peoples.

A segment of our population worries about what the Asian and African peoples will think of us in some of the efforts to preserve our own standing in a world which seems to respect only power. It is often forgotten that an overwhelming percentage of Asian and African people are illiterate and get news only thru radio broadcasts which may have no bearing on the facts or ethical situations, but rather who controls these channels of communication.

Our financial markets have become accustomed to some of the Russian activities in stirring up world trouble spots. It would seem that investors now feel that our country is going to negotiate with Russia only from a strong position and not from weakness. It has been proven over and over again that Russia respects only power. She would have a hard time assuring herself and other analysts, that her own captive peoples, are completely safe as military units and she has had evidence that she cannot trust her captive nations with organized military power.

Fortune Magazine states, "This world tension will increase defense spending and the inflationary hazards inherent in the superboom that Roundup (their monthly business survey) looks for in 1962. It will also contribute to autumn upsurge in production, based largely in many types of demand. These have been accumulating and pyramiding during the summer lull in business".

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
IN COOPERATION WITH THIS NEWSPAPER

PROTECTION GIVEN TO PERSONS ARRESTED

As citizens of the United States and of the State of Illinois, our political heritage insures to us certain legal rights and duties, which good citizens know and understand. This article concerns the legal rights of persons arrested and accused of a crime.

When may a citizen be lawfully arrested.

Arrests may be made with or without a warrant of arrest. In Illinois, a policeman has the right to arrest without a warrant any person who attempts to commit a crime in his presence, or any person whom the policeman has reasonable grounds to believe has committed a crime.

A person not a policeman, that is, any other citizen, may lawfully arrest without a warrant only if the crime is committed in his presence. These arrests are lawful even though the person arrested is entirely innocent.

If the policeman has an arrest warrant, he may lawfully arrest any person who is named in it. An arrest warrant is an order issued by a judge, a justice of peace or a police magistrate for the arrest of a certain person. It is issued when someone files a complaint accusing another of a criminal act.

The arresting officer, a policeman, constable or deputy, is required to have the warrant with him when he makes the arrest and to allow the person arrested to read it. The warrant should describe the person accurately, and contain a statement of the specific charge for which the arrest is made.

It is unwise to offer any resistance to an arrest, because it is a crime to resist a lawful arrest.

Once the arrest has been made and the person is taken to the police station, the law requires that he be "booked" within a reasonable period of time. "Booking" is the entry of a specific charge against the person in what is called the "police blotter" or "arrest book".

The police may lawfully hold the person for several hours or perhaps overnight without booking. Should the detention run beyond reasonable time without booking, the person may obtain freedom by means of a writ or habeas corpus.

A lawyer procures the writ from a judge, ordering the police to produce the person in open court and there either charge him with a specific crime or release him. He may not be held incommunicado. In any case it is proper and customary for the person to ask for permission to telephone his lawyer or someone who can get a lawyer for him.

Once booked, the person has the right to apply for and post bail so that he may be released from police custody pending the trial unless the crime for which he is booked is a very serious crime. Bail is security posted to assure that the person arrested and booked will come to court on the day set for his trial. If the person fails to appear in court on the day of trial, he will forfeit his bail security and a warrant will be issued for his arrest.

While the person arrested is in the custody of the police, he may not lawfully be forced to make any statement on any subject. He has a full legal right to remain silent thruout, and to refuse to speak, to answer questions, or to sign papers. He has the right to refuse to take a "balloon test" (to determine intoxication) or any other similar tests.

If he is physically forced to give incriminating information, he can prevent it from being used against him at his trial.

In many cases it is prudent for an arrested person to refuse to give any information which might be in any manner used against him, until he has talked with his lawyer, even though he is completely innocent of the crime charged. Of course, he should not withhold information that may lead to the apprehension of the guilty party. When the person is booked and is brought to court, he has become a defendant to a criminal charge. He has a right to be represented by competent counsel of his own choice.

Should he be unable to pay for a lawyer's services, he may take a "pauper's oath" affirming his poverty, and then the court will appoint a lawyer to defend him if the case is at all serious. He is given a copy of the papers containing the formal charge against him. He is free to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge, and if he pleads not guilty the State must come forward with its proof.

His lawyer will take the case and defend him vigorously whether he is guilty or innocent, because all are entitled to adequate representation regardless of guilt.

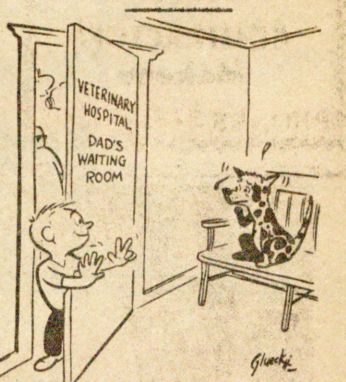

If the defendant pleads "not guilty", he is entitled to a trial by jury. He must be given sufficient time to consult with his attorney and to prepare his defense. The law requires the State to inform the defendant of all the witnesses that will be called to testify against him, and to give him any other information he may need for his defense. The court will, at the defendant's request, compel the attendance of any witnesses he desires to testify on his behalf.

At the trial the defendant cannot be forced to testify. If he refuses to take the stand in his own defense, neither the judge nor the jury are to consider that as evidence of guilt. He has a right to be considered innocent of the crime charged until the State proves beyond a reasonable doubt that he is guilty.

The deliberate, technical and orderly processes of our criminal laws and of our rights after arrest, act as a restraint upon those excitable persons who, in cases of brutal or unusual crimes, would resort to lawless mob action or summary condemnation to vent their revenge upon the man who stands accused.

Our rights after arrest are an integral part of the American system of jurisprudence which is designed to protect human dignity and to punish only after a fair and impartial hearing. This system will remain workable only so long as we citizens take an active and sincere interest in its enforcement.

(This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law. (The Illinois State Bar Association, 424 South Second Street, Springfield, Illinois, has published a pamphlet entitled "Your Rights If Arrested?" which will be sent free to any person who requests it.)

WHAT IS GOVERNMENT BACKDOOR SPENDING? Congressman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, says, "Backdoor spending is fiscal insanity." The writer agrees with Chairman Cannon.

Backdoor spending is the method of financing government spending by borrowing from the U.S. Treasury. In reality it authorizes the spending of public debt receipts without the further approval of the Congress.

A good portion of these "backdoor loans" are never repaid. Altogether, $140 billion in backdoor spending has been placed on the Treasury's books, but so far only $65 billion has been repaid. Congress has already been forced to cancel some $16 billion in loans.

One of the largest single examples of a backdoor loan outstanding is the $13 billion owed the Treasury by the Commodity Credit Corporation, money used in its farm price support program. There is grave doubt if any considerable portion of this sum will ever be repaid.

Backdoor spending loosens and removes Congressional control over government spending and should be stopped.

A GRASS-ROOTS REVOLT Congress has been voting billions for foreign aid, levying a crushing burden of taxes, piling up a monstrous public debt, and wasting our gold reserve, thereby cutting the purchasing power of the dollar to less than 50 cents. Most of this has been done during the past 20 years.

Now "the chickens are coming home to roost."

There is a growing grass-roots rebellion against high taxes, extravagant government spending, and our enormous public debt. The Congress is being deluged with protests from angry taxpayers back home who are finally awaking to what is being done to them by the spendthrifts in Washington. The folks back home are fed up with "government spending." They are beginning to realize that the Federal government is traveling at a rapid rate down the road to national bankruptcy, financial chaos, and debt repudiation. (A budget of $6 billion 25 years ago has increased to a budget of $86 billion today.)

The nation's situation was placed before the House Foreign Affairs Committee several weeks ago by T. Coleman Andrews, former Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service. He brought forth the following points:

1. The claims of foreign nations against our gold reserve at Fort Knox now exceed the gold reserve.
 2. The deficit in our national budget arises wholly from our foreign aid giveaways.
 3. When you are broke you can't very well be generous--except with other people's money; and that is immoral.
 4. We have given millions and millions to Poland, and what has Poland done? She has given 13 million to Castro. Have the billions given away by us (and often mispent by foreign governments) won friends and influenced people in our favor? Not so you can notice it!
- In view of this, will Congress ever learn that you cannot buy friends and respect with dollars? Will Congress ever learn that many of those who accept our "gifts" call us Uncle Sam behind our backs? Isn't it about time for the people back

Seek Aides For Service In Hospital

Volunteer service opportunities at Oak Forest hospital, 159th and Cicero ave., will be expanded this fall to include more weekend and evening assignments. Further information is available via Mrs. Edith M. Smith, director of volunteer services, FU 8-2360 or WA 8-4200.

Considering the eight miles of corridors within the hospital, more information aides will help in guiding visitors to the 2400 patients, so they may make the most of visiting hours with their loved ones.

Evenings are also an ideal time for volunteers to show slides and home movies in the wards of the bedfast, according to Mrs. Smith. She said, "We find the many patients without relatives and home ties particularly enjoy this homey touch. They keep asking if any more people are coming to show their vacation pictures."

Last spring a group of Calumet Park women brought to a bedfast ward in the hospital the same games other volunteers play with ambulant and wheelchair patients at Wednesday evening parties in the game room.

"While the patients were slow to catch on to the fun of having someone come to their bed to entertain them," Mrs. Smith said, "it was a very satisfying experience for these women to see the patients 'come alive' to their visits. Now they end each session with the patients calling out, 'don't forget to come back!'"

Sangmeister Replies To Critics On County Board

SEMMLER NEWSPAPERS
Section 1, Page 9 Thursday, August 31, 1961

A reply to critics of himself and justice of the Peace Robert Buchar because they declined to handle cases involving the collection of personal property taxes on the grounds their courts lacked jurisdiction, was made before the Will county supervisors at their meeting Monday by Justice of the Peace George Sangmeister, of Mokena.

Sangmeister and Buchar are attorneys. Buchar has his law office and his court in Joliet. Sangmeister has his law office at Frankfort. His court is located at Lincolnwood on U.S. 30, New Lenox township.

Seven justices of the peace were elected last April in Will county as county officials under a new state law. The county board fixed their salaries at $9,000 a year and the county also pays the rent and utilities for their offices and allows $3,000 a year for clerk hire.

In his talk before the board Monday Mr. Sangmeister took up the various points which have been aired in recent weeks. Mr. Sangmeister said in part:

"Because of certain statements which have been made by various members of this board, and because of the growing friction between the county board and several justices of the peace of this county, I appear here in behalf of Judge Buchar and myself before you today so that any difficulties or misunderstandings which exist may be aired and forever settled. I wish to proceed with these matters one at a time.

"Filing of personal property tax cases: On this subject, we want to make it clear from the start that we are in full accord with the proposition that an individual should pay his personal property taxes. We sympathize with those who feel their assessments are not fair. We also feel that the legislature should make an earnest effort to rectify what most people feel is a bad law. However, this in itself does not excuse anyone from paying the tax or availing themselves of their remedy if they feel their assessment is unfair.

"My contention, and that of Judge Robert R. Buchar, is that our Courts lack the necessary jurisdiction to hear these cases. This contention is in no way made in bad faith. We don't feel that this is the place to discuss the legality of the question, but it is as basic as the constitution of the State of Illinois which states in Article VI, Section 18, that:

"County courts shall be courts of record, and shall have original jurisdiction in all matters of probate, settlement of estates of deceased persons, appointments of guardians and conservators, and settlements of their accounts, and in proceedings for the collection of taxes and assessments, and such other jurisdiction as may be provided by general law.

"As most of you gentlemen know, this issue was brought before the circuit court of this county on an agreed suit between the state's attorney's office and ourselves. Judge Cardoso saw fit to interpret the law differently than what we feel is correct. We, therefore, feel a higher court ruling is a necessity to eliminate any doubt as to our jurisdiction. It would appear that the states attorney and the taxing bodies should be interested in having valid judgments entered and proper legal processes followed.

"If the appellate and supreme court rule against us, summons will be immediately issued out of our courts on the following day.

"We would also like to call to the county board's attention, that to the best of our knowledge, personal property summons have NOT been issued out of the court of Justice of the Peace Anthony R. McKay, or Justice of the Peace Eugene Haller's court, yet no mention seems to be made of this, nor were they included in the mandamus action filed by the states attorney's office. In addition, to the best of our knowledge, no summons have been issued, or have cases even been filed in the county or circuit court, since the present program of enforcement was instituted. Why is this? We believe the county board should investigate and see why this is so. There need be no delay in collecting delinquent personal property taxes, the county court is given jurisdiction by the constitution and the states attorney need only file the cases there.

"Non-cooperation: This accusation is perhaps the most baffling of them all. It is completely unjustified and not founded on a single fact.

"Our offices are open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. These are the hours set by this board, and they have been followed. I would like any member of this board, or any person for that matter, to cite one instance where they desired to file suit in my court, and were not able to be accommodated. Not only has every person who has requested a service been taken care of, but I hold night court once a week in order that a defendant need not lose time from work to appear in my court if he so desires. Besides this, at the sheriff's request, I have held court in Joliet in order to co-operate with the law enforcement officers of this county. What more can I do? Judge Buchar has held court on Saturday mornings to accommodate the public.

"The thing that has to be understood, is that it is completely within the discretion of the states attorney's office as to where the criminal cases are to be taken. If he prefers to take them to one court, this is his right, but at the same time we would not be criticized for failing to turn in enough revenue to the county.

"However, in any criminal case which is brought before us, a man is presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt. Now, if this burden is too much for the states attorney's office, and this is the reason we hear so few criminal cases, then they are derelict in their duty and not we in ours.

"Revenue: The county board, in every comment which is made about the justices of the peace, feels it is necessary to mention our salary and lament the fact that we and our offices are costing the county an exorbitant amount of money.

"On this subject, we would like to begin with the fact that we are elected officials, contrary to the thinking of at least one member of this Board. We are part of the judicial system of this state and county and a constitutional court, and are NOT "collection agencies". We don't know on what facts or recommendations the county board relied on when they set the salary, but this was their decision and not ours.

"However, the following quotation attributed to Supervisor Frank Wesoloski of Wesley township which was printed in a Joliet newspaper Aug. 1, 1961, may indicate the thinking of the county board:

"We find ourselves paying $750.00 a month to a J.P., who refuses to do the work for which the money was intended, even after being ordered to do so."

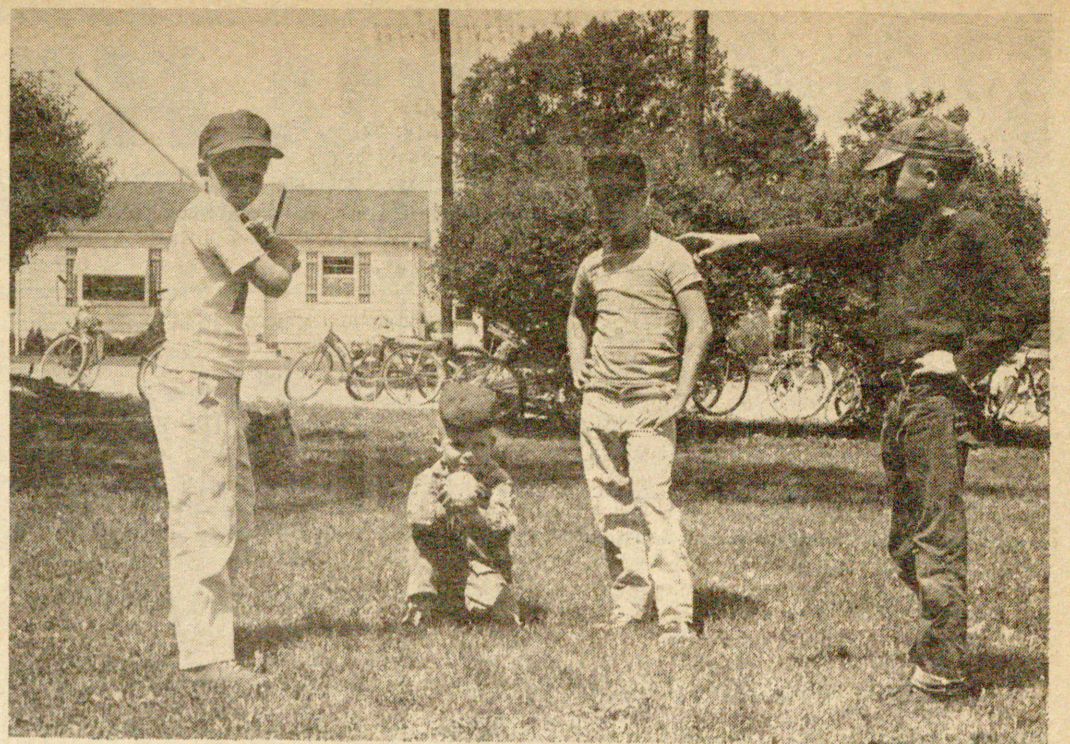

"From this quotation and the reference to "being ordered to do so" both undoubtedly referring to the decision rendered in the mandamus action in the local court, clearly indicate that the county board expected that they would automatically receive judgments in the justice of the peace court in the personal tax cases without any regard to whether or not the said courts had jurisdiction to hear such suits. As Attorneys and as Justices we intend to follow and abide by the United States Constitution, Constitution of the State of Illinois, and the Illinois Statutes and, at any time that we feel that we do not have jurisdiction of any cause sought to be brought before us, we will so rule and will insist on all due legal processes which are guaranteed to every citizen, be followed in our courts.

"We would dislike to believe that a majority of the members of the County Board subscribed to the same thinking as Supervisor Wesoloski.

"If the county board felt that the justice of the peace offices in this County would be self-sustaining, they may have been misinformed.

"However, there are some questions which need answering. I show you here a docket of a former justice of the peace under the old fee system. There is supposed to be one case to a page, but this judge saw fit to put twenty-five (25) on a page. This judge heard more state police cases in one month than I have heard in four months. Why is this? Have violations suddenly dropped in Illinois? Are these cases going to police magistrates? I firmly believe that the answers to these questions will be enlightening to this board and once and for all settle the question of why so little revenue is forthcoming from our offices."

WHY'NT YOU HIT IT? It may be what the catcher, Scott Larsen, is saying to the batter, Maryliss Runsted. The lad second from the right is Harold Webb and the boy pointing is the team captain, Robert Hamilton. The picture was taken at the Lions Den grounds in New Lenox where the summer recreation program sponsored by the village board is now in progress. Ron Larsen, of the L-W high school athletic staff, is in charge.

Joliet Arsenal And OAC Will Expand Employment

Military preparedness moves being put into effect by the army will cause an increase in employment at the Joliet Arsenal and the Ordnance Ammunition Command, which is announced by Col. Homer G. Barber, commanding officer at the Ordnance Ammunition Command, Joliet.

A total of 900 additional workers will be added to the rolls of the two organizations within the next six months, Col. Barber said.

Joliet Arsenal and the OAC each plan to hire 45 new employees within the next week. Joliet Arsenal will employ 750 of the new workers, and OAC headquarters will employ about 150.

Joliet Arsenal requires the additional workers in order to increase ammunition production at its Elwood Unit. Most of the workers will be production workmen, such as explosives operators, munitions handlers, and laborers. Men only are required at the present time.

The personnel who will be hired by OAC will include such categories as production, supply management, and maintenance specialists. Needs also exist for personnel in quality control and electronic data processing positions.

A substantial number of the employees needed are expected to be secured by recalling former employees of the Arsenal and by transfer from other Army Ordnance Corps installations.

In connection with his announcement of increased local employment in the Joliet area, Col. Barber said that the preparedness program will also cause increased employment at other Ordnance Ammunition Command plants and works throughout the country.

Lawyer To Boss Cook Co. JPs At $12,500 A Year

(CNS) Harold P. Reynolds, 57, Winnetka, Tuesday was named executive administrator of Cook county justices of the peace.

Reynolds is an attorney with offices at 72 W. Adams St., Chicago, and has not been active in politics.

He was appointed by County Board President John J. Duffy. The county board unanimously approved the appointment.

Reynolds will take over the $12,500 a-year job, created by the last session of the legislature, as soon as he winds up his affairs. He said he expects to stay with the new job, on a full-time basis, until the new system is set up, and then "will take another look at it."

A graduate of the university of Notre Dame and its law school, Reynolds has been in law practice in Chicago since 1930 with the exception of some government administrative service during World War II and in 1953-54, when he was general counsel to the petroleum Administration for Defense. He specializes in corporate matters.

Reynolds said he is a Democrat. However, Duffy said earlier he did not know and did not ask Reynolds' political affiliation.

Duffy said 12 men applied for the administrator's job, and that he asked friends of his to recommend other candidates. Reynolds was one of those recommended. Duffy said he interviewed him, was "very impressed" with his qualifications, and prevailed upon him to accept the job.

The administrator will assign cases and courtrooms to the county's 75 justices, who went on salary in April. Reynolds said he has had no experience with justices of the peace, and would have no comment on their work or the system until he familiarizes himself with his new job.

Joliet Cops Ruth Tourney At New Lenox

The Joliet Nelsons, winners of the Tri-County Babe Ruth League crown added to their laurels last week-end by finishing on top in an invitational Babe Ruth tournament in which the New Lenox team under Coach Ronald Larsen was host.

It was a double elimination affair and Joliet had to come out of the losers' bracket to cop the tourney but that is why such tourneys are held--to give a team another chance in the event it has a bad day.

Joliet was beaten by Manteno,

9 to 5 and then came back to wallop that same team 15 to 2.

The Nelsons won two from Manhattan, 8 to 7 and in the last and championship tilt, 9 to 8. In the sixth inning of the championship game Manhattan was leading Joliet 7 to 3 when the roof fell in.

New Lenox lost first to Manhattan, 8 to 4, and then took a 21 to 7 shellacking at the hands of Joliet. Manhattan took second place in the tourney and Manteno wound up in third.

READ JOHN 10:11-18

Ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. (1 Corinthians 6:20.)

A woman I never met influenced my life. She was a Russian nun by the name of Sister Maria. During World War I, she was the head of a convent school in Paris during the Nazi occupation. Utterly unselfish and valiant, she sought to relieve the suffering, not only of her fellow Catholics, but of the persecuted Jews, some of them in her school.

One day the Nazis came and demanded that she turn over all her Jewish students. Sister Maria knew that it would mean for them concentration camps and death. One high school girl was overcome with fear. Sister Maria quickly took off her nun's habit and put it on the girl. She herself put over her head the yellow scarf of the Jew and said, "I'll go for you, I'll take your place," and Sister Maria died as a Jew.

How few of us have such courage, to put ourselves in other people's places when it involves suffering, pain, and loss. Yet that is what Jesus said was the way His disciples must take in following Him.

PRAYER: O God, as Christ laid down His earthly life that we might find eternal life in Thy love so infuse our spirits with sacrificial dedication. Through us may Thy love be a conquering power over prejudice and hate. For His sake, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Only the splendor that shone in Jesus enables us to lay down life or live in the spirit of the Master.

Asks Court To Save Home

(CNS) An Oak Lawn woman
filed suit in Superior Court
Thursday against a couple who, she claims, "fraudulently" induced her to convey her interest in property to them.

Mary L. Dowling and Richard and Therese Fenwick agreed to buy the corner house and lot at 10319 Linder St. in Oak Lawn, March 24, 1959, the suit states. Plaintiff Dowling allegedly paid $22,000 toward the purchase of the house, and with the defendants executed a $5000 mortgage. She claims in the suit that she was induced to pay the money on the representations of the defendants that she would always have a home to live in and somebody to look after her in her old age. She alleges further that on February 16, 1960, they convinced her to convey her rights in the property to them, and shortly thereafter refused to let her continue living with them.

Fall Festival

Friday, Saturday, Sunday & Monday

Sept. 1, 2, 3 & 4

THE FORMER Miss Charlotte Swanson, who has married since she was crowned queen of the Fall Festival last year, smiles happily as Phyllis Cannon, queen of the 1959 festival, places the crown on her head. Charlotte will perform the crowning of the 1961 queen at the festival Sunday night. Phyllis, who married shortly after reigning over the 1959 festival, is also a mother. She is an attractive 5 ft. 3 inch brunette with sparkling brown eyes. Charlotte, who will be seen by visitors at the fair at this year's crowning, has brown hair, a beautiful smile, and blue eyes.
(Times Photo)

THE BATHING BEAUTY queen and her court were chosen from among the entries last year in the contest held in conjunction with the Fall Festival. The queen is the former Miss Charlotte Swanson of Tinley Park. On her left is the first runner-up, Miss Sharon Lee Bieniek of Oak Forest; and the second runner-up is Miss Sheila Bredesen of Tinley Park. Who the queen and her court will be this year will soon be known. (Times Photo)

Beauty Queen To Be Picked By Judges

A bevy of beautiful girls will compete in a bathing beauty contest at the Fall Festival. The first to enter this year was Miss Penny Schmidt of Tinley Park, a brunette.

The preliminary judging in the contest will be on Friday, Sept. 1. The semi-finals will be Saturday evening and the queen will be chosen Sunday night, Sept. 3. The two runners-up will serve as her court and all will ride in the big parade on Monday.

Officers from the Orland Park Nike site will act as judges.

Last year's beauty queen, the former Miss Charlotte Swanson, will crown the new beauty-queen.

CONTEST CHAIRMAN

Everett Earley has been chairman of the Bathing Beauty contest since it was first held in conjunction with the Tinley Park Fall Festival several years ago. The event is always a big hit with festival visitors and several glamorous queens have been chosen to reign over each year's festival.

This year, like in previous years, Everett is busy publicizing the event to draw a large number of girls to participate in the contest. His wife, Theresa, is a big help to him as she keeps the records of each of the contestants.

Joe McCarthy Is A Very Busy Man

Joe McCarthy probably has more civic jobs than any man in town. He is a trustee on the Tinley Park village board, director of the Tinley Teen club, and plays a major role in the annual Fall Festival.

Joe is parade marshal and also is the man one hears over the public address system, performing as master of ceremonies thruout the 4-day affair, making announcements, and introducing all of the features being presented. He is also on several of the festival committees.

Joe has quite a reputation as a parade marshal and his advice is sought by other communities putting on parades.

The parade, which gets bigger and better every year, always runs smoothly under his guidance.

Parade Starts At 2 P.M. Labor Day

Fall Festival festivities on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4, will be highlighted by a parade starting at 2 p.m., from the south end of Oak Park ave., north to the festival grounds on 171st st.

There will be marching bands, marching units, and skillfully decorated floats. Village dignitaries will ride in convertibles.

The English Brothers Garage in Tinley Park is furnishing 11 convertibles for use in the parade. Ed Gillespie of English Brothers arranges the transporting of the cars from Detroit and the owner, James English, pays the cost of driving the cars to Tinley Park and back to the factory.

Joseph McCarthy, parade marshal, says this year's parade promises to be bigger and better than ever.

Trophies will be awarded in various divisions to the entries judged best.

The preliminary judging in the bathing beauty contest to choose a queen and her court to reign over the festival, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1.

A comedy trampoline act will present fun and laughter for young and old, on Saturday night. Also on Saturday, at 7:30 p.m. the semi-final judging in the beauty contest will take place.

The final judging in the beauty contest will highlight the events of Sunday. This will take place at 6:30 p.m. To see this popular event, one must arrive early as the space around the run-way where the bathing beauties parade, fills up rapidly.

BIG PARADE

On Monday, Labor Day, the big parade will start at 2 p.m. from the south section of Oak Park ave., moving north and east to the festival grounds.

The 4-day annual event will be climaxed by a gigantic fireworks display on Monday night.

Memories of previous Fall Festivals bring people back year after year. It is a perfect ending to a perfect summer before families settle down to the routine of fall and winter.

It is a place to meet your friends and neighbors and enjoy clean fun with the family. The adjacent wooded area with benches and tables is ideal for a picnic spot.

All of the proceeds of the festival either directly or indirectly benefit every family in the area, as evidenced by the disbursements of money from the annual carnival by the Recreation Commission last year as follows: Explorer Post, Boy Scout troops, Cub Scout packs, Tinley Park Public Library, Teen club, Little League, American Legion baseball team, Church League sports, Halloween and Christmas parties for the children.

THE COMMITTEE of the Recreation Commission for the Fall Festival has been working hard, especially within the last few months when they have been meeting at weekly sessions to discuss and plan the annual event. Left to right in the first row, they are -

Recreation Commission Formed 17 Years Ago

The Tinley Park Recreation Commission was formed 17 years ago and was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1944.

It is composed of representatives of all local civic organizations and is responsible for many civic improvements, besides the promotion of recreation and support of athletic teams thruout the years.

The Commission obtains their funds solely from the operation of an annual Fall Festival, which includes carnival rides, sidebooths, an exhibition tent and varied entertainment over each Labor Day weekend. This year the festival will open Friday night Sept. 1, and close Monday night, Sept. 4.

Thru the years the proceeds from this annual event has provided recreational equipment in parks, outfitted youth and adult athletic teams, provided equipment for Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and the Explorer Post, provided holiday parties for the children in the community, and been of financial assistance to the Tinley Park library. These are some of the ways in which the town has benefited from the annual affair and the diligent work of the members of the Commission.

ALL VOLUNTEERS

All of the assistance by members of the Commission and of all local organizations in operating the festival is voluntary. The various booths and side shows are operated under rules set down by the Commission.

The planning for the festival continues thruout the year at the meetings of the Recreation Commission, which are held the 4th Wednesday of each month.

Present officers of the organization are, Robert Raines, president; Gene Holmes, vice president; Mrs. Theresa Earley, secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Moore, treasurer.

The Labor Day weekend is an enjoyable time in Tinley Park and the festival draws thousands of fun-seekers from the surrounding area. It is a fitting climax to the end of summer.
